"What an awesome thing it is to feel oneself on the verge of the possibility of really knowing another person . . . and, I feel as though I am on the edge of a new world. Getting to know someone, entering that new world, is an ultimate, irretrievable leap into the unknown. The prospect is terrifying. The stakes are high. The emotions are overwhelming. In human experience, only the perennial themes can move us to such an extent. Death. Birth. The grave. Love. Hate."

Eldridge Cleaver

*There Is the Great Mass of Nature;
I Find the Support of My Body
on It;*

My Life Is Spent in Toil on It;

My Old Age Seeks Ease on It;

At Death I Find Rest in It;

What Makes My Life Good, Makes My Death Good Also.

Chuang Tzu

*We Shall Not Cease From Exploring,
And the End of All Our Exploring
Will Be to Arrive Where We Started
And Know the Place of the First Time.*

T.S. Eliot

MUSIC IS
GOOD THING.
Mark Twain

Then Said a Teacher, Speak to Us of Teaching.

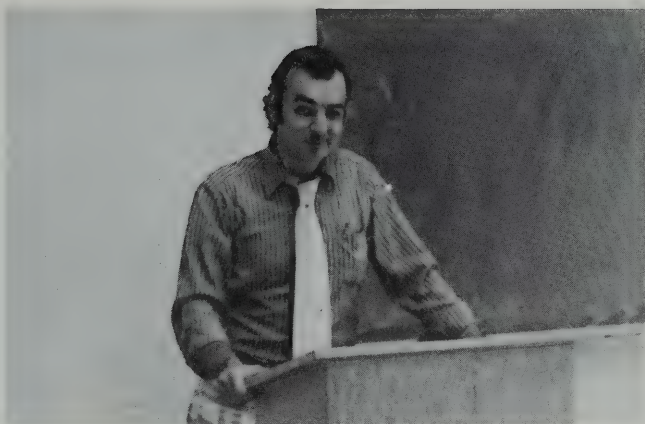

And He Said:

No Man Can Reveal to You Aught but That Which Already Lies Half Asleep in the Dawning of Your Knowledge.

*If He Is Indeed Wise He Does Not Bid You Enter
The House of His Wisdom, but Rather Leads You to the Threshold of Your Own Mind.*

A black and white photograph showing a person from the back, wearing a dark belt. They are looking into a circular opening in a dark wall. The person's body is partially visible, showing their back and legs. The scene is dimly lit, with the light coming from the circular opening.
